“Different Perspectives” – Dan Sands

Next Monday we have a talk from Portland based photographer, Dan Sands.

In his own words, Dan’s talk will feature:

“A chronological no-holds-barred tour of my photographic journey to date, plotting key "revelations" which took me on different paths, from multiple exposure images, intentional camera movement, drones, low light and everything in between, I present images to inspire and re-enthuse those who may find themselves in a photographic rut including a small demonstration of ICM/ME layering.”

Dan’s talk will cover a lot of the genres that are of interest to members and where many of his locations will also be familiar to us. It will be great to see his interpretation.
